This is a list of 10,000 men's shoes. The dataset includes shoe name, brand, price, and more. Each shoe will have an entry for each price found for it and some shoes may have multiple entries.

What You Can Do with This Data You can use this data to determine brand markups, pricing strategies, and trends for luxury shoes. E.g.:

- What is the average price of each distinct brand listed?
- Which brands have the highest prices?
- Which ones have the widest distribution of prices?
- Is there a typical price distribution (e.g., normal) across brands or within specific brands?
